SIMS Conference to be held September 5, 2012
Power-packed day offers two tracks, continuing education credits

DALLAS – The Shermco Industries Motors and Switchgear (SIMS) Conference will be held in League City, Texas on September 5, 2012. A leader in electrical maintenance, repair and safety training, Shermco knows the time constraints of engineers, maintenance managers and electrical maintenance professionals. Therefore, the one-day SIMS conference has been designed by pooling expert resources and information efficiently and effectively into a power-packed day that maximizes attendees' time, effort and retention at a single venue.

Held at the South Shore Harbour Resort & Conference Center, 2500 South Shore Blvd., in League City, Texas, this concentrated event will provide attendees the knowledge and resources to quickly identify better and faster on-the-job solutions. Attendees will also have the opportunity to earn valuable continuing education credits. There will be two tracks:

Track One: Motors & Switchgear presentations include:

- Testing Methodologies for the Analysis of Service-Aged Medium-Voltage Cables
- Insulating Oil Analysis and Proper Test Selection
- Introduction to Motor Insulation Systems and Online/Offline Testing
- Quantifiable Transformer Testing and Achieving Reliable Results
- Ground Fault Protection of Equipment used on Solidly Grounded Low-Voltage Systems

Track Two: Power and Safety presentations include:

- Changes and Enhancements to the 2012 NFPA 70E
- Power Quality 101 – What Does it Mean to Have Quality Power?
- Mitigating Arc Flash Hazards with Real-World, Cost-Effective Solutions
- Disaster Recovery – How to Manage Your Electrical System after a Hurricane, Flood or Significant Event
- Understanding & Incorporating the NERC/FERC Standards
